

English language service

MoBiCluP has set up a new programme to help support members and non-members alike with all their English language needs.

Ms Jacqueline Chilton, MoBiCluP's English consultant, is in charge of the new English language service. Originally from Cambridge, England, she has been active in the translation, interpreting and coaching sectors in the Berlin-Potsdam area since 1984. Past and present clients include Siemens AG, Nokia Siemens Networks, Schader Foundation, Leibniz Institute, University of Potsdam, as well as numerous other small corporate and private customers.

Translations

Translating and editing scientific and specialised texts requires extensive and up-to-date knowledge to meet the specific requirements demanded by each individual assignment. We provide a professional and competitive service that encompasses the following:

- consulting and researching reference documents
- respecting, harmonising and managing terminology
- adapting the text to meet usability requirements

Key areas of expertise:

- Scientific publications and abstracts
- Research papers
- Presentations
- Articles
- Marketing literature
- Press releases
- Websites

We can also help you in submitting project proposals, e.g. for EU and BMBF projects

English language training

To help you face the challenges of working in an English-speaking environment we also provide a flexible and targeted teaching/coaching service that suits your individual learning needs and style and enables you to achieve your language objectives, either in small groups or one-to-one.

If you would like more information, please do not hesitate to contact us. We will get back to you as soon as possible.
